

Daily Democrat.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY HARNEY, HUGHES & CO.

OFFICE—

South side Green street, two doors below the Castlemore.

W. E. HUGHES, State Printer.

TUESDAY, DEC. 8. 1863.

CITY. NEWS.

ROBBERIES.—Our City Police—Within the past week not a day has passed that we have not been called upon to chronicle some case of robbery or burglary, and in every instance have the thieves succeeded in making their escape. In addition to the long list of robberies already chronicled in our paper, we have to add a number of others. On Sunday night a number of houses in the lower portion of the city were entered and robbed of various amounts while the occupants of the houses were absent. In one case an old widow lady was robbed of fifty-three dollars while she had stepped out a moment to visit her next door neighbor. The thief in this case climbed over the back fence and entered the house through the kitchen window. During the session of the Legislature, which convened yesterday, there will be a proposition brought before that body to extend the city boundary so as to bring in the place known as Germantown and a large space of other property. The police force of Louisville is not of sufficient strength to take this large extent of property, and the Council should increase the police force at their next meeting. When the new boundary of Louisville is established the city will cover a space five miles in length and two miles in width, and we have a night police, but forty to fifty to watch over this large extent. Until the police force of the city is increased, we may expect to hear of many robberies and the thieves succeeding in making their escape. A place of the size of Louisville should have a police force of at least seventy-five or one hundred night watchmen, and we hope that the Council will take some steps to increase our police force and thus more securely protect the person of the citizen from the midnight robbers and assassins who now infest our city.

SCHOOL MATTERS.—The regular monthly meeting of the School Board took place last night. From the report of the Finance committee we learned that the expenses of the schools during the past month were $6,935.66, which indebtedness will be canceled to day by the secretary.

Mr. Chas. T. Grey was elected first teacher in the Grammar department of the Third ward school, and Mrs. Maury was elected first teacher in the Secondary department of the same school. Miss Rhodes was also elected a teacher in the Primary department of the Tenth ward school.

It transpired during the evening that a lady teacher in the Eighth-ward school has over one hundred pupils under her control.

The military authorities have relinquished the Third ward school building; this building will at once be occupied for school purposes.

The building committee reported that the Female High School building, on First street, is nearly completed, and that it will be dedicated on Wednesday, the 24th inst.

The rules for the government of the Board for the current year were adopted.

A vote of thanks was tendered the Hon. W. P. Thomasson for a donation of valuable books to the Male High School.

The Board adjourned to meet again the first Monday evening in January.

POLITICAL PROCEEDINGS.—Mondays, Dec. 7.—Thomas Waters, drunkennes and disorderly conduct; $100 for two months.

Samuel Commodore, Henry Green, John Fry, Wm. Barley, Wm. White, all slaves; seven stripes each for disorderly conduct.

Malissa Salisbury, drunkennes and disorderly conduct; $100 for two months.

John Sawmiller, stealing lumber; continual.

A slave received ten stripes for stealing a can of oysters.

ACCIDENT ON THE OHIO AND MISSISSIPPI RAILROAD.—We learn that a freight train on the Jeffersonville railroad collided with the passenger train on the Ohio and Mississippi railroad, at the crossing at Seymour, Indiana, badly damaging several cars of the latter train.

Owing to his disaster, the train from Indianapolis was detained, and we did not receive our usual Eastern mail. The train will arrive this morning, and the regular train will leave as usual.

J. S. BOON BINDERY.—We call the attention of job printers, and all others who have any binding to do, to the card, in another column, of Mr. John B. Williamson, south-east corner of Main and Third streets. He is prepared to do work in the very best style. He does binding and ruling of every description in the most expeditious manner. Those who would save money in this line will do well to call as above.

Some three months since a young man by the name of T. J. Smib, who resides in Ohio county, came to this city for medical treatment, and some six weeks ago was at the Gathright home, since which time nothing has been heard of him. His master is in the city, and any information of his whereabouts will be kindly received by her.

Mr. Farmer, a blind man and a refugee from Alabama, wants to find his son-in-law, J. T. Goodwin, a cobbler, said to have been residing here for some months. Inquire of Mr. Isaac Butler, butcher, at Falls City肉铺.

One hundred and fifty convalescents and forty well recruits were received yesterday from Springfield, Illinois, and one hundred and sixty rapiers and twenty-nine dusters were sent forward to their regiments.

Four hundred more of the prisoners captured in the battle of Chattanooga arrived here last evening on the Nashville train. They were confined in the military prison, where they will remain until they are forwarded for exchange.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—The Rev. Mr. Worrell, of Covington, Kentucky, will preach in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening, 6th inst., at 7 o'clock, the commencement of a series of meetings.

CLOSED.—Yesterday three notorious houses of ill-fame, kept by Mollie Hays, Mollie Clark and Julia Dean, were closed by the Provost Marshal for harboring and concealing soldiers from the guard when sent to arrest them.

"The Lady's Friend" is the title of a new monthly magazine published in Philadelphia, the first (January) number of which is now ready for subscribers. We call attention to the advertisement in to-day's Democrat.

ARREST OF DESERTERS.—On yesterday two Lieutenants were arrested in this city to deter them. They were confined in Bars No. 1, where they will be kept until tried by a court martial.

Coal was retailed yesterday at $12 per load, and difficult to obtain at that price.

W. H. Enrich, at the corner of Third and Main streets, has our thanks for favors.

Kentucky Legislature.—The Senate and House of Representatives of the Kentucky Legislature were called together at 12 o'clock yesterday noon. The members were sworn up in the organization of both Houses completed by the election of one of the members.

Col. R. T. Jacob, the Lieutenant Governor of the State, is by law the presiding officer in the Senate.

J. Russell Hawkins was elected Clerk of the Senate, without opposition.

For Assistant Clerk of the Senate, Wm. C. Ireland, of Greenup county, and George W. Montague, of Taylor, were put in nomination. Mr. Ireland having received a majority of the votes was declared duly elected.

J. W. Pruet was elected Sergeant-at-Arms to the Senate, without opposition, and Abijah Gilbert to the office of Doorkeeper.

In the House, after the members were sworn, nominations were in order for Speaker. The names of Harrison Taylor and Alfred Allen were put in nomination. The ballot proceeded, and Mr. Taylor was elected—having beaten his opponent eight or nine votes. Upon taking his seat Mr. Taylor made a short and appropriate address.

The House then proceeded to perfect its organization by the election of Clerk.

James B. Lyne, of Henderson, J. M. Fidler, of Marion, and Mr. Kohlbass, from one of the upper counties, were put in nomination. Upon the first ballot James Lyne was elected.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience, and all were more than pleased with her rendition of the character. The piece will be repeated again to-night, when we have no doubt the house will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

AMUSEMENTS.—WOOD THEATRE.—The young American actor, Mr. Edwin Adams made his first appearance before a Louisville audience last evening in the ardent character of Hamlet. His impersonation of the Melancholy Prince was a brilliant success. His beauty throughout the performance was too numerous to particularize. We have not space in our column to do ample justice to this great tragedian. In the play scene, particularly, he impressed the beholders with a full and complete idea of the immortal author's intention, touching the heart of the listener with an artful power which feeble words cannot express. He made an undeniably, "palpable hit." To form and move us is express and admirable." This evening he appears in an equally arduous Shakespearean role, Macbeth, on which occasion let our citizens manifest their appreciation of true merit by crowding the theater.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—Mr. Vestal appeared last night as Captain Henri Lagarde, in the play of the Duke's Motto, to a very large and fashionable audience, and all were more than pleased with her rendition of the character. The piece will be repeated again to-night, when we have no doubt the house will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

The MINSTRELS.—Rumsey's minstrels opened at Mason's Temple last night to a large and fashionable audience. The banjo solo of H. S. Rumsey, was the best that we have ever heard, while the double clasp-dance by West and Waters was superior to any that we have ever seen. The troupe is composed of the best performers in the country, but our want of space will not allow us to speak of each one. They give another performance to-night, when we hope that the hall will be crowded.

